GOLDEN WEDDING

Anniversary Celebrated By Mr. and Mrs. Singleton Hodge at Their Home in Princeton

SEVERAL MARION PEOPLE ATTENDED.

Very delightful and informal was the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Hodge on March twenty-fifth, the thirtieth anniversary of their marriage, at their home in Princeton, Ky. The only item to mar the perfect pleasure of the event being the absence of the two eldest children, Mr. Henry A. Hodge and Mrs. Sue A. Adams, their place of residence being so distant as to render it impracticable for them to be present.

Quite a large number of the friends of the worthy couple called between hours of eight and eleven and paid their respects. On arriving the guests were met by Mrs. G. W. Dyer and Mrs. F. G. Wood who conducted them to the parlor, where they were greeted by the bride and groom and their daughters, Mrs. Edith Flanary and Mrs. Coleman Moore, of Hopkinsville, and son, S. D. Hodge and wife, of Princeton. After spending a short time in exchanging congratulations and in social visit and chat, were conducted to the dining room, where they were served delightful refreshments consisting of coffee, cake and mint wafers and their respects. DISASTROUS FIRE

Two Residences, Near Depot, Burned Early Friday Morning; Other Buildings Threatened

PARTIALLY COVERED BY INSURANCE

Friday morning at two o'clock the shrill whistle of the power house of the Marion Electric Light & Ice Co., aroused the town and gave warning that a fire was in progress. The blaze, which was plainly visible, appeared to be in the tobacco factory of R. L. Moore, and hundreds rushed to the scene expecting to find the mammoth establishment in ashes. The fire, however, originated in the residence of Mrs. Hicklin, mother of Mrs. and Will Hicklin, who lived with her youngest son, John, and daughter, Miss Eva.

The house and contents were doomed when the fire was discovered, it having such a start that all hope of saving it was abandoned and little time was left to save the contents only a few of which were gotten out.

The wind was sweeping in a gale to the Northwest and the flames soon leaped to the large two story residence of Mrs. Mary Drury, the second floor of which was occupied by the owner and the lower floor by W. R. Thomas and his family.

The rapidity with which the flames spread gave little time to save the contents of this house, much of which was thrown out and more or less damaged and broken up.

The fight then made was to save the E. C. depot and the ice plant, which the volunteer fire brigade succeeded in doing.

Mrs. Hicklin's loss was about $2000, insurance $700 on house, nothing on contents.

W. R. Thomas had some little insurance on his household goods, but not enough to cover the loss.

Mrs. Drury carried $1500 insurance on her residence for which she paid $2500 a year and a half ago.

She also carried $200 on household goods, which will partially cover her loss.

Mrs. Hicklin and family have gone to housekeeping in Will Hicklin's house on Morganfield street, known as the Smithson house.

W. R. Thomas and family rented the James McConnell house on East Bellville street recently vacated by James Lawson.

Mrs. Mary Drury and her two little boys took rooms at Lee Johnson's residence (the Cram property on North Court street).

BABY DROWNS

Little One Falls Into Pail of Water and Loses Life While Parents Are Away

Poseyville Ind., March 22.—The little one year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ramsey, of this place, was drowned in a bucket of water yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Ramsey had been watering his horse in a candy bucket in the yard and had only left the house but a few moments when the little tot walked out while its mother was employed and fell with his head down in the bucket, which was half full of water.

The child had probably been in the water about ten minutes when discovered. All efforts to revive the little one failed and the mother is prostrated with grief over the loss of her beloved one.

New Hampshire's Ice Mountains

One of the natural curiosities of this country is the Hampshire ice mountain on the bank of North creek 26 miles from Winchester. For about a quarter of a mile the west side of the mountain is covered with loose boulders and stones of light color, the mass extending all the way down to the river. By lifting these stones on any day in the year crystals of ice can always be found securely hidden in the crevices beneath.

Little Virginia Hale Is Fearfully Burned.

Virginia Hale, one of Mrs. Ethel Hale's little twin daughters, stepped into a pot of hot soap, that was cooling in the back yard, Tuesday afternoon and was painfully burned on about one fourth of the surface of her body. One leg, side and arm were blistered and greatly burned by the heat and lye. The little girl was jumping a rope in the yard when she fell into the pot. The soap was partially cooled or she would have scalded to death. The outcome can now be foretold, but she is resting as comfortable as could be expected.

Brave Little Girl

Rescued Mother and Brother from Drowning at Caseyville.

News reached us just as we were going to press, of the heroic act of little Miss Atkin in rescuing her mother and little brother from drowning at Caseyville. While driving along the levee, the horse drawing the buggy in which was Mrs. Atkin, her twelve year old daughter and six year old son, took fright at a wheel-barrow laden with fish nets, backing off the levee and overturning the buggy in deep water. The brave little heroine jumped as she realized that they were going to their death, saving herself, but seeing her mother and brother drowning she managed to get hold of her mother, and, small as she was, succeeded in pulling her to shore. When never thinking of her own danger, rushed into the water after her brother, and to the astonishment of those watching, but unable to render assistance, she also saved him. Those witnessing the scene claim to have never seen anything like it. The brave little woman should be entitled to a Carnegie medal.—Sturgis News Democrat.

Folley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. J. H. Orme.

EDMUND KEAN.

To See Him Act Was Like Reading Shakespeare by Lighting.

Before the third century after the birth of Shakespeare had reached its first quarter there was born in England to a stage carpenter and a striking actress a child destined to grapple with the poet's highest thought and interpret it with a vehemence that to this day stands unrivaled. Coleridge's terse comment, that to see him act was reading Shakespeare by lightning, reveals him with the fitness of a proverb. Edmund Kean, along with most people early trained to an art had little opportunity on the schools. He was when a boy provided with instruction by some benevolent people whom his smartness and beauty attracted, but he rebelled against the tasks of study and went to sea. But late there was too rough for his fine nature. He returned to England and at the age of seven began the study of Shakespeare's characters with his Uncle Moses. Thus he continued with an actress named Tesswell, who taught him, besides, as well as she knew, the principles of her art.

At an early age he had the credit of originally so surprising as even then to challenge the supremacy of Philip Kemble. At fourteen he played Hamlet. King George had him recite at Windsor castle, and it is said that his debut led some gentlemen to send him to Elton, but there is no record of it.

At twenty he was in a provincial troupe, a member of which he married, and for six years thereafter, until his glorious night at Drury Lane, his life was one of hardship, struggle, obscurity, but, thanks to the faith in himself, not hopeless. His London debut was made at twenty-eight. He had fought for it hard and long and would then have passed it but for the fall in reputation of the theater. London critics in first roles are not easy for provincial actors, and none knew better how hard they are to get than Henry Irving. Kean seems to have been at his full splendor and made a hit. After that his habits were altogether prejudicial to the enjoyment of taste or the propagation of knowledge.

A TREE OF ILL REPUTE.

The Fresh Juice of the Tops Act as a Deadly Poison.

An evil reputation has long been borne by the ipsa tree. Author's foxglove, which grows in Barren and other East Indian Islands. It is still a common belief that birds flying within the influence of its presence dooms instantly perish and that it is fatal for animals or men to rest beneath its shade. It resembles certain plants like the poison ivy in emitting a volatile substance which affects the skin of certain susceptible persons, though others are unaffected. The sap is very poisonous and is the chief substance used by the Indians for poisoning the tips of their arrows.

In this process an incision is made in the bark of the tree and the milky exudation collected on a palm leaf and dried fast in the sun and then over a fire until a thick brown mass is left. If this state it can be kept without deteriorating and when required for use it is made into a paste with the juice of tulip root, which is used to stupefy fish or with tobacco or honey juice and the ends of the darts dipped into the mixture and dried. These darts are made from the middle stem of the palm leaf and are about six or eight inches in length and of about the thickness of a knitting needle.

They are used with a wooden shotgun or blowpipe which is about seven or eight feet in length and has an internal diameter of about one-quarter inch. A bird struck by one of these little darts is instantly killed, and the dart dies in about twenty minutes. The fresh juice of the tips removes whether swollen or ruptured, the blood acts as a violent poison causing convulsions and death. —Chicago News.

FRESH NEWS.

By breaking in rotten logs one can find in winter the remains of many of the wild living beetles, and beneath logs and stones near the nests of ants and bees hordes of the maggots or larvae of certain kinds of flies may often be found huddled together in great masses. The larvae of a few beetles also live over winter beneath chips or bunches of leaves near the nests of their food plant or at webs of their own web structure which are woven on the stems close to the ground whose expanding leaves will furnish them their first meal in spring.

He Didn't Know.

"Manum" queried little Willie, "what is 'hush'?"

"Why do you ask, dear?" said his mother.

"Because," explained the observing maid, "when I asked sister what made her hair all ruffled after tea was here this afternoon she said 'Hush, dear'" Chicago News.

The Caller.

"Mary, has any one called while I was out?"

"Yes, ma'am, Mr. Biggs was here."

"Mr. Biggs? I don't recall the name."

"No, ma'am; he called to see me."

It seems like the appearance of the weather is so spry in opening up Easter does not give us a cold winter.

Just Because

your cough is only in the throat and does not trouble you now, don't think that it needs no attention. When it has not had much of a start is the time to check it. The slightest cough easily leads to Pleuritis, Bronchitis and Consumption. A bottle of Hallard's Herbs and Balsam will cure the cough. The price puts it within reach of all. Sold by J. H. Orme druggist.

FOR RHEUMATISM

Simple, But Good.

Go to any good drug store and ask for the following prescription: Cassia Aromatic, one-half ounce, Concentrated Barkola Compound, one ounce; Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, one-half drachm, Aromatic Fluid, four drachms. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. Drink plenty of good, pure water during the day, and your rheumatism should soon pass away.

This is the prescription most frequently used by George Edmund Pless, M. D., the specialist, and he authority for the statement that it is in his opinion the most reliable and effective remedy for Rheumatism, Kony or Bather Troubles ever written.

Any good druggist will put up the prescription or will supply you with the ingredients at a small cost.

Head Ache Sometimes?

It will interest you to know that it can be stopped with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills; and without any bad after-effects, and this without danger of forming a drug habit or having your stomach disarranged. They positively counteract morphine, cocaine, chloral, ether or chloroform in any form. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain, and leave only a sense of relief. The reason for this is explained by the fact that headache comes from tired, irritable, turbulent, over-taxed brain nerves. Anti-Pain Pills soothe and strengthen these nerves, thus removing the cause. They are harmless when taken as directed.

Two or three Anti-Pain Pills will stop the headache in about two hours. They will ease the severe spell of nervous or sick headache to a very few minutes. I am of a nervous temperament and often have terrible headache spells which may never seem to be completely exhausted, and I trouble so I can scarcely contain myself. At these times I always take the Anti-Pain Pills, and they quiet me right away. It is remarkable what a soothing effect they have upon the nerves.

MRS. F. B. KAHL, Detroit, Mich.
Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it fails, he will return your money. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

THE MARSH MARIGOLD

Cattle pasture—the marigold—
Flowers like as its leaves in foil,
Yellow and bright! Eyes a sun glow,
Carpets the marsh where the zephyrs blow.

Cattle pasture—the marigold—
Strewn within me sweet memories old!
Thoughts of a maiden, with true blue eyes,
Plucking them there 'neath the falcon skies!

Cattle pasture—the marigold,
Speaks of a day when one's hope was bold,
Tells of a time when the heart was light,
Thrilling in Faith, with no thoughts of night.

Cattle pasture—the marigold—
Paint from thy petals of fair gold,
Warts over the chasm of years that Bee,
Incase of youth, and its grace to me.

Byron Williams.

FAITH.

By Byron Williams.

Where are you going? Oh! Little stream,
I'm going to the cross—Crosses
Are not crosses hard? Well, I'm tired of you, Father, you're weary long.

He's not far off, you know, gray

Clouds with the edge of a storm square,

I'm to be a song for my ribs to sing

He knows the way and I have no fear

Through!

Tolling along, with your load unpaid,
This is the answer, my friend, for you!
God made the path for your feet to tread,
He knows the way and will see you through!

DID YER EVER GO A-FISHIN'
IN THER HAZY, MAZY DAYS—
GO A-FISHIN' AND A-WISHIN'
A TERRIBLE WAYS?

AND YER TAKE YER FISHIN' TACKLE
AN' YER WORMIN', SQUIRMIN' CAN,
GO A-FISHIN' AND A-WISHIN'
TH' JOY-FUL-EST MAN!

DID YER EVER GO A-FISHIN'
OH WHAT MADDER, SADDER FATE
TO GO A-FISHIN' AND A-WISHIN' AND FERGIT YER
LIQUID BAIT!

We are authorized to announce
R. H. THOMAS

a candidate for Assessor, to fill out the unexpired term of J. Anthony Davidson, subject to the action of the Republican party. He endorses the local option law.

Mothers who teach their children have now gone back to the old-fashioned simplified spelling board, namely, the shingle.

"Trust your appetite," says a health magazine. That advice would be all right if we could induce the grocer to do a little more trusting.

"What's the matter with a woman when she refuses to talk back to her husband?" asks the Chicago Times. Our guess is that she is either asleep or dead.

Be a producer. Employes are of two classes—those who produce and make money, and those who are on the expense side. The producer is never out of a job.

Ninety per cent. of a man's trouble mentally, morally, physically and financially is because he can not say "No." The measure of a man is his ability to use his backbone instead of his wishbone.

It takes two to make a quarrel. Arguments and disputes raise Cain, if you want the best of the matter keep your temper. Let the other fellow fret and stew. Stoop to conquer. Cut out thoughts of revenge and you will win the bout.

It is a plan of nature that the body and brain must have work or else man's life is miserable. The man with no occupation or cares, who lives on his income and avoids responsibilities, is simply counting the days until he dies.

A St. Louis church has a penny bank, education lessons, an entertainment course, a millinery class, a class in English, a sewing school, a cooking class, a church book store, a reading room, a chorus class, a legal bureau, and medical attention. Presumably, it also has a pastor who preaches the gospel.

Hon. Eugene Graves was nominated by the Democrats as their candidate for the Legislature from McCracken county, to succeed Hon. L. P. Head, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Graves was nominated over Mr. Mat McKinney, the only opposition. Mr. Graves is a very popular young man, having served the county of McCracken two terms as county attorney. He will be elected at the November election by a big majority. He is a good Democrat and will make an able representative.—Princeton Leader.

Mr. Graves is a Crittenden County boy, having been reared at Dyersburg. He is a brother of J. A. Graves, of Dyersburg Canning Co. and nephew of Mrs. Emma Hayward, of this city.

The Record-Press congratulates him in winning the nomination which is equivalent to an election.

Will Butler in Panama

It will be a great surprise to many of our citizens to know that Will Butler is in Panama and has charge of the telephone system in the canal district. The position is one of great responsibility and requires not only experience, but an expert at the business to meet the Government's requirements, hence his selection.

Mr. Butler is a son of Rev. J. H. Butler, of this city, and is not related to W. B. Butler of the Home Telephone Company office here.

that section of the county. It was well advertised and that fact alone would have brought the people, but the free barbecue helped to swell the crowd no doubt. The weather was good and the bidding was spirited.
Every thing sold well and every body went away happy and satisfied.

A New Enterprise.

Messrs. Nunn & Tucker, the enterprising furniture dealers, will start soon a furniture factory in the upper story of their mammoth furniture store on corner of Salem and Court streets. This move will prove highly profitable to these gentlemen as much of the lumber shipped from here is returned in the manufactured product, to be sold to the very man frequently from whose land the timber is cut. They can purchase the raw material right here and save two freights.

Arkansas Letter.

Piggott, Ark., March 20, 1907.

LUTHER RECORD-PRESS — Noticing at my former letter found its way to the columns of your paper will I promised endeavor to give my readers a brief description the beautiful land in which I now

I begin with, I want to say there several million acres of vacant United States land which can only acquired by homesteading, all in the beautiful "Bear State" Kansas) which has seventy five cities and this government land found in nearly every county state and to those who have stopped to think of the loss the grand old state will say bounded on the North by Miss in the East by the Mississippi separating it from Tennessee Mississippi, on the South by Texas, Texas and Indian Terri to an area of 103,859 square which the surface varies spark mountains crosses Northeast to Southwest with plateaus including the Hills on the North, the Hills on the South and the Hills on the Northwest

The South are broad prairies and the remainder of the state bounded between hills and bottom valleys. The entire available timber including vast of pine the different species Hickory, gum, ash, wal (paper) in abundance cedar many others who prefer lumber. While it has no remarkable well provided navigable streams. The Mississ. extends along its whole border a distance of four of this great stream. One of best attractions is the Arkansas which rises in the Rocky Mts. traverses the center of the central western portion of 500 miles and is navigable a month into the Indian ter the Red river which also rises in New Mexico and through the southwestern part state to the confluence in that division in the Ozark Mts. Missouri rises the St. S. river which runs into the Mississippi crossing the northwest of the state. This is also a river, but its navigation is mainly snags. White Banks Cache and Ohio rivers are smaller streams. In Pike is a natural river one of the best in the state. In the north rich mineral deposits Coal was to exist in twelve different waters by the Arkansas the mineral being high grade graphite supposed to cover about 1,200 miles, the vein varying 1 to 9 feet in thickness from 30 to 100 feet below the surface.

There are also canals and veins coal in abundance. Iron excellent quality is plentiful in Ozark mountains. Zinc is abundant than in any other the Union. Lead ore, frequently bearing silver, is found in parts of the state. Gold is found in some sections. One discovery of gold has occurred Clay county one mile north east. The government assay that it contains $18.62 per is being bought up rapidly sight of this discovery, and it ought that this will soon become a mining section of the state. The development has been that direction in this county, is a newly settled place and will only bring about the development which we think will result in rich discoveries of valuable here.

ELECTRIC BITTERS THE BEST FOR BUSINESS AND KIDNEYS

Missouri Letter.

Nevada, Mo., March 15, 1907.
CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS.

We think it due our dear old home and friends of former days that we should occasionally acknowledge our love and devotion to them. Many events are erased from our minds, and many forgotten by the intervention of years, but the environments of childhood are never forgotten and seldom grow dim.

Few words appeal to the heart with such force as the word "home."

How touching the memories of the old home, one and one-half miles west of Marion on the Salem road. Late there was very simple. It was an old farm house. The furniture was very plain. The environment was very crude. But it was a sacred place. Mother, brother and sisters were there. Familiar names and faces, and familiar voices, scenes and kindred spirits made the place sacred.

Every stone, every board, every window and door about the old house, and every tree and shrub about the place is sacred. Others might pass by without a sensation, save of loneliness, but to the one who was born and brought up there everything is beautiful.

Memory recalls many happy faces which we met in and around Marion, and to meet them was like a ray of sunshine across our pathway.

Many of these faces have disappeared from the streets of Marion and door old Crittenden. Some have gone beyond the river, where we hope to meet them, and others to the great west, where they are competing favorably in the great rush of commercial life.

But those days—those halcyon days of youth have passed away, and we find ourselves facing many great changes. Marion has changed from a nonassuming little inland town to a notable little city, with all the modern conveniences, and we trust it may continue to grow and become the metropolis of the vast ore fields by which it is surrounded.

We love Kentucky and do not regret that we were born in Crittenden county.

Yours respectfully,
John E. Rogers

The Comic Supplement is another attractive feature of the Sunday Courier Journal. The Sunday issue of the paper is now equal to any paper published anywhere, and it is constantly improving.

The usual number of pages is about fifty four.

The Richest Man in the World.

The richest man in the world can not have his kidneys replaced nor live without them, so it is important not to neglect these organs. If Foley's Kidney Cure is taken at the first sign of danger, the symptoms will disappear and your health will be restored, as it strengthens and builds up these organs as nothing else will. Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have used Foley's Kidney Cure and take great pleasure in stating it cured me permanently of kidney disease, which certainly would have cost me my life." J. H. Orme druggist.

WHEN PRIDE COMES BETWEEN

So many of the little chafing problems of married life could be mastered, so many of the mist of misunderstanding could be dissipated by the sunshine of love, so many of the discord in the music of home could be translated into harmonies if false pride did not so often come between writes William G. Jordon in the April Delininator.

True pride is the guardian and protector of what is best in us, false pride is the sullen defender and apologist of our weakness.

Life has so much real pain and sorrow so many dark clouds floating over the sky of home, care and trouble that seemingly no human foresight can prevent, that it seems almost extravagance to manufacture troubles merely to offer them as sacrifices on the alter of vanity, this false pride.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all Cough Cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is—and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poisons enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package.

For this reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Sold by Haynes & Taylor.
